

JFK Asks $5.7 Billions to Aid Education

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today proposed a $5.7 billion aid-to-education program designed to set "a new standard of excellence in education" available "to all who are willing and able to pursue it."

In a special message to Congress, the President called for:

A three-year program of out-right grants to the states for use in building classrooms or raising teachers' salaries. It would provide an average of $19.75 for each child in average daily attendance in public elementary and secondary schools the first year, increasing to an average of $24.22 the third year. Total cost: $2.3 billion.

A five-year program of college scholarships, averaging $700 each with an additional $350 to colleges and universities for each scholarship winner enrolled. There would be 25,000 scholarships the first year, 37,500 the second, and 50,000 thereafter. Total cost: $577.5 million.

Continuation of the 10-year-old program of long-term, low-interest loans to colleges and universities for dormitory construction, at a rate of $250 million a year for five years. Total cost: $1.3 billion.

Establishment of a similar loan program for the construction of college classrooms, libraries, laboratories and other academic facilities, at the rate of $300 million a year for five years. Total cost: $1.5 billion.

No funds were recommended for constructing schools or paying church school teachers' salaries. But no distinction was made between public and private institutions regarding college scholarships and loans to colleges.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois announced he was ready with a Republican substitute for Kennedy's education program.

Dirksen's measure is a four-year $1 billion proposal. Federal aid, to be matched by the states, would be limited to construction of classrooms.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., opposes federal contributions to teachers' salaries.

Kennedy said he will ask Congress at a later date to amend and expand the National Defense Education Act of 1958. The act authorizes the college student loan program and emphasizes improved instruction in science, mathematics and modern foreign languages.

He also said his administration will review the government's current programs in vocational education.

The Eaghead From the Ozarks

—Editorial Reprint

EDITOR'S NOTE: Morgan Beatty, famous NBC news commentator and author of this tribute to Senator Fulbright, is a native of Fort Smith. He was telegraph editor of Arkansas Gazette in 1925 when The Star's editor was state editor of the Gazette, on a leave of absence from El Dorado Daily News. Another telegraph desk hand was Frank Cantrell, now manager of Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce; and there was Ellis Huff, later publisher of the Jackson County Democrat at Newport, who covered police and courts for the Gazette. The four Gazette men lived at the then Racksack apartments, now called Capitol Hill apartments. We knew Morgan Beatty as a studious and thoughtful man. Even back in 1925 he had become an authority on the life of Andrew Jackson. — Alex. H. Washburn.

No man in public life is more misunderstood than Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas. . . and yet . . . no man has spoken more clearly on controversial issues. The Senator from Arkansas (the Saturday Evening Post has called him, the Eaghead from the Ozarks) simply refuses to follow the political path of being all things to all people. The net results is that he has offended many people he might not have offended. He has been the despair of others who might have been placated with a quotation from the Bible or the Constitution. He tore into the Truman administration for neglecting the hi jinks and the milk coat corruption in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. He earned the ill will of President Truman who called him an over-educated Oxford SOB. That was a reference to the brilliance of Bill Fulbright in his school days. He was an Oxford scholar and that, many years later led him to propose American type International Scholarships. They are now a part of the law of the land and are called Fulbright Scholarships.

Later, when Bill Fulbright thought President Eisenhower was getting advice from too many quarters about foreign policy he did not hesitate to suggest that what we needed in the White House was imagination and initiative. Bill Fulbright has offended fellow senators with his sometimes shocking forthrightness. When no other senator was yet ready to condemn the late Joe McCarthy and his McCarthyism . . . J. William Fulbright cast the only vote against the Wisconsin senator and his investigations. Bill Fulbright, in a sense does not belong to the senate club (the inner circle). One reason why he is not reverent about the senate — once a fellow senator asked him if he thought the senate had the power to pass such a law . . . the senator from Arkansas said . . . We have the power to pass any damn fool thing we want to pass, and we always seem to do it. Senator Fulbright signed the southern manifesto against forced integration of schools, Northern Liberals said he temporized his reply in a nutshell — The problem (he said) is more likely to yield to slow conversion of the human heart.

As for foreign policy he agrees with Senator Kennedy's basic theme and accent on Asia, Africa and Latin America. He says our ways does not necessarily represent the highest good to several hundred millions of people on this planet. Bill Fulbright has — well I've reported about him to indicate — he might not get re-elected in Arkansas if he had to run today. He has not made himself the darling of the northern liberals and Senator Kennedy has not asked him to be Secretary of State.

But he is chairman of the most powerful committee on the Capitol Hill . . . in relation to the cold war Senate Foreign relations. He will be a burr under the saddle of anyone who tries to cure our ills with a speech on the tail end of a medicine show wagon. He might well help President-to-be-Kennedy face the facts of life. — Morgan Beatty, NBC News.

Plane Wreck Spotted Near Texas Town

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Department of Public Safety reported today one of its patrol cars has spotted what may be the wreckage of a plane near Johnson City.

An intensive air and ground search was on in the area for Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's private plane, missing since Sunday night. Only the pilot and copilot were aboard.

State police had no details. The big white Convair 240 vanished in the fog during a 65-mile flight from Austin to the Johnson ranch near Johnson City.

The vice president himself directed a night-long search from his ranch home. The craft is privately owned and was used by Johnson in last year's presidential campaign.

Costello Is Stripped of Citizenship

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today upheld an order stripping racketeer Frank Costello of New York of U. S. citizenship.

Justice Brennan delivered the 6-2 decision. Justice Douglas wrote a dissenting opinion in which Justice Black joined. Justice Harlan took no part.

At issue was the question whether there was "willful misrepresentation and fraud" when Costello listed himself as a real estate operator in hearings before a naturalization examiner in 1925.

The government contended his real occupation in the Prohibition Era was bootlegging. U. S. Dist. Judge Archie O. Dawson of New York revoked Costello's citizenship on Feb. 20, 1959, after a long legal fight by the government.

The government charged the 69-year-old underworld figure obtained his citizenship under false pretenses. Born in Sicily, Costello was brought to the United States when 4 years old. He has been a target of various federal drives against criminal elements. The U. S. Circuit Court in New York approved cancellation of his citizenship on Feb. 17, 1960. At that time Costello was in Atlanta federal penitentiary serving a five-year sentence on conviction of evading $29,000 in income taxes.

Costello's appeal to the Supreme Court questioned that the denaturalization order could stand, saying he actually had been engaged in real estate. The appeal protested also that the order rested in part on evidence "tainted by wiretapping."

Pair of Fine Animal Films at Saenger

Walt Disney has two magnificent wildlife pictures at the Saenger, showing through tonight — Monday.

Both are in beautiful color and both have spectacular action all the way.

One is the feature-length production "Jungle Cat," — the story of the jaguar and his family, photographed in the jungles of the Amazon with the aid of the Brazilian government and the Smithsonian Institution.

The other is the funniest wildlife story you have ever seen on the screen "The Hound That Thought He was a Raccoon." Two horses are a lost Red Bone hound puppy and a pup raccoon whose mother adopts the dog. The result is that when dog and 'coon are returned to civilization things begin to happen which amaze the hunting fraternity. When the hunters come up on a pack of dogs and a treed 'coon they are treated to the sight of one dog defending the 'coon and standing off the pack. "Now," said one hunter, "I've seen everything!" And so will you.

It's the best dog story since James Street's "Biscuit Plater" — and you don't want to miss it. You'll love old Red Bone and all the Blanc-and-Tans.

The feature, "Jungle Cat," is in the great tradition of all Walt Disney's documentaries of wild animals in far-away places. I was looking for something on the order of Frank Buck's "Bring 'Em Back Alive" series of years ago. But Walt Disney and his camera production crews have such an eye for detail and authenticity that they come up with a fresh and exciting realism that Frank Buck's jungle melodramas never had.

The featured performers of the "Jungle Cat" are a midnight-black jaguar, his spotted mate and their two kittens — one black, of course, the other spotted. The family roam the jungle, alternating between training the kittens in the art of survival and taking some long shots with their adult lives. The black male jaguar picked on a 30-foot boa constrictor out of sheer boredom, and the next minute was fighting for his life. His spotted mate figured the boa was finally strangling him, and was about to jump into the river to save him when the old man finally pulled his way out of the encircling coils of snake. Frank Buck

Wildcat Strike Disrupts U. S. Airline Travel

NEW YORK (AP) — Much of the nation's vast air travel network, hit by a wildcat strike of a relatively small union, faltered today toward a standstill.

Operations of leading airlines were cut to a fraction.

The staggering effects, building up from a four-day-old walkout of flight engineers, forced one of the most widespread shutdowns in commercial aviation history.

Across the country, airlines began laying off employees in a mounting tide that was expected to reach about 65,000 by the day's end, if the strike continues.

The union itself, the Flight Engineers International Union, has 3,500 members. Their strike was aimed at six airlines, including most of the large ones: American, Pan American, Trans World, Eastern, National and Western.

Almost completely knocked out were their long-distance, big plane flights, on which engineers were required. A few got off the ground, using supervisory personnel as substitutes.

Generally, service was cut to 15 per cent of normal, or less. Thousands of stranded passengers sought alternate means of transportation, or turned to other domestic airlines, not involved in the strike.

These were mainly lines providing service on a short-hop basis, with twin-engine planes.

The engineers are protesting a P. A. 6 decision by the National Mediation Board ordering them and another union, the Air Lines Pilots' Association, to hold an election for a single bargaining agent.

The engineers, outnumbered by pilots, claim the decision could wipe out their union — and possibly their jobs.

Last Saturday, the union itself ordered members back to work, but they spurned the order. Mort Kutner, a spokesman for the wildcat movement, said: "We realize that to go back means we are going to be pushed out of a job."

Meanwhile, the strike produced growing paralysis for the airlines.

In New York alone, more than 600 flights, involving about 50,000 passengers, were canceled today. Hundreds of other flights, and thousands of other passengers elsewhere, were affected.

Pan American ordered a complete worldwide shutdown at noon, and furloughing all its 20,000 employees.

American said it was beginning to lay off most of its 24,000 employees. It said 85 per cent of its operations were halted, with only some small twin-engine short-haul craft in service.

TWA, with 90 per cent of its flights grounded, indicated it would begin laying off its 20,000 employees if there was no sign of a settlement by tonight.

National already has laid off 3,500 of its 4,000 employees. Eighty-six per cent of its operations were knocked out.

Eastern also started furloughing some of its 17,000 employees. However, Eastern said it still was maintaining 50 per cent of its service, using a fleet of 75 twin-engine planes.

The layoffs—leaving thousands of persons not directly involved in the strike without pay — began Sunday after Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg disclosed he had been unable to resolve the dispute.

A delegation also was named from the Arkansas Senate, where Norrell served for several terms in the 1930s.

Besides the members of Congress, those designated as honorary pallbearers included Gov. Orval E. Faubus, Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon and other state officials and J. Frank Franey, who had been Norrell's campaign manager since he entered politics in 1930.

Cleve Gillard Jr., pleaded guilty to forgery and uttering and was given three years on each count. Leroy Hughes pleaded guilty to scaling a truck and was given a four-year term, and James R. Connell, pleaded guilty to auto theft, and got two years suspended on a four-year term revoked.

Connell is in prison serving two years of a four-year term. Sheriff Jimmie Griffin said that since the sentencing two other car thefts were traced to Connell. Today Judge Brown revoked the suspended two years.

Not Everyone Has This Consideration

WASHINGTON (AP) — It isn't every girl that has the President hold a seat for her.

That happened Sunday when President and Mrs. Kennedy attended Mass at Holy Trinity church in Georgetown.

A girl about 11, wearing a red hat and red coat, was seated in front of the Kennedys. During the Mass, she got up, whispered in the President's ear and left. She returned in a few minutes. Asked afterward what she whispered to the President, the girl said she asked him to save her place. Her name was not obtained by reporters.

Sitdown Group Being Punished in Prison

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eight Negro students jailed in a Rock Hill, S.C., sit-in demonstration have been placed on bread and water in solitary confinement for what prison officials called a sit-down and refusal to work.

Charles C. Maloney, superintendent of the nearby York County prison camp, said "We will let them out when they show us they are ready to go to work and obey orders."

Maloney confirmed Sunday the students from Friendship College at Rock Hill had been in solitary since Friday. They were among 11 jailed recently when they refused to post $100 bail each pending appeal on conviction of trespass during a variety store sit-in.

A white man and a Negro, both from Washington, D.C., remained in jail over the weekend at Rock Hill after arrest on breach of the peace charges during a brief scuffle at a Saturday demonstration. Both chose the "jail, no bail" of other demonstrators for racial equality in the South.

At Greenville, S.C., 11 young Negroes, four of them women, faced trial for assembling in a city park Saturday without a permit in an unsuccessful attempt to get into a skating rink for white persons.

In another development at Greenville, Southeastern regional NAACP leaders completed a four-day meeting by calling on Negroes to stop buying from those who didn't give them equal job opportunities.

Clarence Mitchell, Washington director, told the closing session the NAACP is considering whether to establish a $10 million fund through private and group contributions to meet the economic challenges of discrimination.

Catholics in Georgia and South Carolina were informed that parochial schools will be desegregated not later than the public schools in their respective dioceses.

UN Told Six Lumumba Backers Killed

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld announced in the U.N. Security Council today that six associates of the slain Congo leader Patrice Lumumba had been executed in a "revolutionary" action. Hammarskjöld's declaration touched off a storm of protests, and the 11-nation body adjourned until 3 p.m. to permit consultations among the shocked delegates.

The Soviet Union quickly blamed the secretary-general for the new political killings.

The adjournment was proposed by Liberian Delegate George Padmore and backed by Chief U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson. A meeting of Asian-African nations was called for noon to consider possible action.

Hammarskjöld said he had received confirmation of the slayings from his special representative in the Congo, Indian diplomat Rajeshwar Dayal, who previously had reported fears for the safety of the pro-Lumumba group.

The slain men were among seven transferred earlier this month to Kasai Province by Congo President Joseph Kasavubu. Lumumba himself was slain after being transferred to secessionist Katanga Province by Kasavubu.

Hammarskjöld protested vigorously against the latest slayings. He said the action was "humiliating and corroding to the United Nations."

The secretary-general gave no details, but said an aide of Albert Kalonji, president of South Kasai, had told Dayal the six were dead.

The dead included Jean Finant, ex-president of Oriental Province; a Maj. Fataki, former commander of the Stanleyville gendarmerie; the president of Lumumba's youth movement, Nuzi; and three men named Muzungu, Elengese and Yangara.

Stevenson said the latest developments emphasized the necessity for urgent and effective action.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin said Hammarskjöld cannot "escape responsibility for what he should have averted under the original resolutions of the Security Council."

Zorin demanded on the immediate arrest of Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, chief of state of Kasavubu's armed forces, and Moiso Tshombe, president of Katanga Province.

The secretary-general's announcement came as the council resumed debate on the Congo crisis after a weekend recess. The public was admitted to the galleries for the first time since last week's bloody rioting. There were no disturbances.

Hammarskjöld called the council's attention to Dayal's original report expressing fears for the safety of the pro-Lumumba group and then disclosed that he had received a new message this morning.

"I have to inform the Security Council," he said, "that I have this morning received a cable from the special representative informing me that 'the so-called' . . ."

minister of justice of South Kasai has just confirmed that Finant, Fataki, Yangara, Muzungu, Elen-gesa and Nuzuzi have been executed.

Dayal's report threatened U.S. efforts to win council recognition for Premier Joseph Ileo, named by President Joseph Kasavubu to head a new central government in Leopoldville. It threw a cloud over last week's suggestion of the U.N. conciliation commission in the Congo that Ileo's regime became the basis for a broad government of national unity.

Some diplomats expected the United States would propose that in ordering any new measures in the Congo, the council specify that Hammarskjold be given a role, that Kasavubu be consulted and that non-U.N. military aid be kept out.

While the report of the deportation of political prisoners from Leopoldville threatened chances of U.N. recognition for the Ileo government, the Communist-recognized Lumumbist regime in Stanleyville apparently was in danger of falling to pieces as a result of individual rivalries.

The U.N. command in Leopoldville announced that Anicet Kashimura, left-leaning Lumumbist chief of Kivu Province, had taken refuge in a U.N. camp to escape arrest by partisans of Antoine Gizenga, the pro-Communist head of the Stanleyville regime. Stanleyville Interior Minister Christophe Ghenye, sent to Kivu by Gizenga to replace Kashimura, already was in the same U.N. camp to escape arrest by Kashimura. A U.N. spokesman said anarchy prevailed throughout Kivu.

There also were unconfirmed rumors of a deal brewing between Gen. Victor Lundula, the Stanleyville army chief, and Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, head of the army in Leopoldville.

Lumumba's death continued to spark protests abroad.

did that same sequence years ago, matching a tiger with a boa — but the Disney version is much more marvelous.

Of course Disney has the advantage of today's beautiful color film, against the black-and-white of Frank Buck's day — but I imagine Disney's camera crew took four times as long to get the picture they wanted, and therefore it is four times as good . . . which is a sound rule in picture taking.

Legislative Climax May Come Tues.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The climax of the 63rd Arkansas Legislature may come Tuesday when Gov. Orval E. Faubus takes his views on two crucial problems before a joint session.

Faubus is expected to discuss teacher retirement and college construction, two of the major issues confronting this general assembly.

There were indications over the weekend that the governor will propose a tax on beer to raise one million dollars a year for construction.

He was to meet with various legislative factions today to thrash out the controversial teacher retirement issue, which hinges on how much money the state will contribute to the retirement plan.

The Arkansas Education Association said over the weekend that Faubus is trying to divert public school tax funds to college construction. Faubus has said that if the state pays only 5 per cent of the retirement, teachers can get a total $3 million raise.

The AEA, which wants the state to pay 9.72 per cent of the retirement, said Saturday not all of the $3 million would go to teacher salaries. About $1,100,000 of it already has been taken up in measures before the legislature, AEA spokesman said. The AEA said Faubus was considering a construction bond program to be paid out of revenues from existing taxes. This, the group said, would be diverting taxes levied for school purposes to other uses.

The AEA says Faubus' 5 per cent plan would eventually result in a "pay as you go" pension plan and would bankrupt the system. The group cited bills in the legislature proposing additional funds for school transportation, building and teaching the handicapped and said these appropriations would cut into the proposed $3 million raise.

The beer tax, which is reportedly being considered at $2.50 a barrel in addition to the present $5 a barrel, would replace a soft drink tax measure which met an early death in the House. It was withdrawn because its authors couldn't muster enough support to hope for passage. It would mean an increase in the price per bottle or can.

The AEA backed that plan for college and state institution construction. A bill to make the state pay 9.72 per cent of teacher retirement cleared two major hurdles last week. It passed the Senate 33-1 and was placed on the House calendar, which means it can be called for a vote at any time.

Faubus' 5 per cent bill was read twice Friday but it cannot come up for a vote until Tuesday without a suspension of the rules. A showdown looms this week on bills to increase the truck weight limit and to increase truck license fees. Both passed the Senate last week but the tax measure was held up on a motion to reconsider. The license bill met opposition in the House and was blocked from a routine second reading.

Faubus was handed a sales tax problem last week when both Houses passed bills with opposite effects. Both are designed to eliminate inequities between the sales tax and the use tax, which is a kind of sales tax on articles bought outside the state.

Faubus can decide between a bill to put current use tax exemptions into the sales tax law, or remove use tax exemptions on items bought outside Arkansas.

Another big item which may be resolved this week is a "cash price-credit price" bill in the House. It would remove interest ceiling on installment loans. Only one of 30 House members checked last week said he would vote for the bill and with such opposition, it may never come to a vote. The legal interest limit now is 10 per cent.

Faubus said he has devised a plan for setting up a State Capitol Grounds Commission to buy land around the capitol and keep commercial interests away from the capitol, courts building and other agencies. However, the plan may not get into law during this session of the legislature.

Death Stalks Highways on Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Death stalked Arkansas highways Sunday. Four persons died as a result of traffic accidents and 10 were injured.

Arkansas recorded 12 violent deaths last week, including six in traffic accidents, 2 in car-train crashes, one in a fire, and three in a plane crash near Amity.

Two cars crashed head-on on a country road near Mabelvale Sunday, killing one person and injuring seven. Killed was Richard Wewak, 49, of Alexander.

State Police said he was driving on the wrong side of the road when his car collided with one driven by Vern Robinson of Mabelvale. Injured in the Robinson car were Mr. and Mrs. Robinson and Ray Elkins and Sidney Goodman of Little Rock.

Injured in the Wewak car were Hubert, Herman and Carthel Sheridan, all of Alexander.

Everett Gann, 47, of St. Louis, Mo., one of three persons injured when their car struck a bridge abutment near West Memphis last Thursday night, died Sunday in a West Memphis hospital. The other two men remained in serious condition.

Mrs. A. L. Stephens, 71, of Memphis, was killed Sunday when the car in which she was riding collided with another as it pulled out to pass on state Highway 1 about 2 1/2 miles south of Marianna.

Her husband and L. B. Clark of Drew, Miss., the other driver, were injured.

Doyle R. Carter, 24, of Mountain View, a student at the University of Arkansas, was killed Sunday when his car collided with a 2 1/2-ton truck at the intersection of Highways 68 and 112 near Tontitown. Billy Fink, 29, of Springdale, the truck driver, was seriously injured.

Annie Dortch, 80-year-old Negro, died Sunday in a fire that destroyed her small frame home in Magnolia. Death was attributed to suffocation.

with Mrs. Corning's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Huckabee.

Haskell Jones, Dr. Lloyd Guerin and Lyle McMathen attended the Lincoln Day dinner which the GOP had in Hot Springs Friday.

Going to Little Rock this weekend for a meeting of Shrine Club officers and wives throughout the state were Hope club president, E. P. Young, first vice president Webb Lanester Sr. and second vice president, Dr. George Wright and Mrs. Wright.

Mrs. Dollie Mae Moore of Little Rock was the weekend guest of her sister, Mrs. R. T. White and Mrs. White.

Should Girl Pick Up Tab For Needy Boy Friend?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

A couple have gone together four months pursuing normal social activities that cost money. Is the man justified in asking the girl for money if he runs short of cash?

I would prefer we spend the evening at home or not see one another at all, rather than be approached for money.

The man contends that if the girl wants to see him badly enough she wouldn't mind giving him money. We both would like your opinion. Faithful Reader

Dear Faithful Reader: There are two issues here; one, moral; the other social. For the girl to pick up the tab or advance the boy friend money, upsets the balance of power and goes against all the laws of nature.

If your boy friend can't afford to take you out, stay home and make the evening a party by cooking a special meal for him. That will prove your love, and what is just as important, allow him to preserve his self-respect.

Socially, of course, it's the height of bad form for a woman to give a man money or for the man to take it.

My 17-year-old sister works for a woman who has three children — a seven-month-old baby and two over nine. My sister cares for them eight hours a day, five days a week. She quit school last year and lives with a girl friend but when my mother calls, the girl friend says my sister isn't there. Maybe sister and our parents had a disagreement.

I am married and have a 16-month old baby but wouldn't interfere if I could because my sister would hate me for it; but she is certainly being unfair to cause all this worry. Can you help us? — Worried Sister

Dear Worried Sister: Difficult though the role is, you who care for all concerned should be peace-maker. Go see your sister even if you have to take your baby with you. Get her side of the story; talk to your parents and get theirs; then mediate.

If your sister is under age, your parents have the legal right to order her home; but that might only alienate her further. Try the peace-maker approach first.

Dear Helen:

I am a girl of 14 and went with an older man whom I loved very much. He was killed in a car accident the other day.

Four months ago he gave me his ring to wear. Should I keep on wearing it? Should I tell my mother about this? Please answer in your column. She reads my mail. — N.

Dear N.: If you continue to wear the ring your mother will inevitably question you. Put it away as a memento of a romance which could have ended in a tragedy for you, had the man lived. No girl of 14 is mature enough to be going with anybody, least of all a man older than she is. Ordinarily I would say tell your mother but, if she reads your letters, she doesn't qualify as a mother in my book. So keep your brief and sad little romance to yourself and be thankful for whatever you learned from it.

Negro Maid Inherits $1 Million

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)—A Negro woman, who inherited a fortune and a mansion in this virtually all-white suburb from her white heiress-employer, was revealed today as a former concert pianist.

Police investigation of an accidental shooting and a death from natural causes led to the disclosure that Ravelle Hughes, 64, had inherited almost a million dollars. Also, that since last June she has owned the Tudor-style mansion in this New York City suburb.

Miss Hughes, who was shot in the groin, was reported in satisfactory condition in a hospital.

In response to questions, she acknowledged that she had been born in West Virginia—she declined to say where—and that she holds a master's degree in music from Northwestern University.

Miss Hughes said she was a concert pianist, had played the organ in Europe under U.S. government sponsorship and once was heard over radio station WOL.

She also said she appeared in the Broadway production of "Run, Run, Run" and was musical director of "Shuffle Along."

She was given the fortune and the mansion in the will of Evelyn Adams, spinster daughter of the founder of the Adams Chewing Gum Co. Miss Adams inherited the fortune from her mother several years ago.

Police said Miss Adams left all her estate to Miss Hughes, who had been her maid and companion for about 30 years.

Miss Hughes continued to live at the "Adams House" after her employer's death in June, but her million worth a year. This has been cut to a third.

The picture is the same in other plants seized from American or private Cuban owners, industrialists here said. Failure to get new raw material and spare part sources before existing supplies ran out is largely to blame.

The picture is brighter in the more vital field of sugar production. Two independent foreign experts who recently toured many sugar centers in central and eastern Cuba said they were highly impressed by the first government-handled harvest.

Washington banned U.S. exports of everything but food and medicine to Cuba four months ago in retaliation for Castro's virulent anti-United States campaign, his nationalization of almost all U.S. property in Cuba and his increasingly close ties with the Communist bloc. Cuba used to buy about 75 per cent of all its imports from the United States, or about $200 million worth a year.

Negro Admits Rape-Slaying of Girl, 13

MEMPHIS (AP) — A Negro youth accused of murdering a 13-year-old Mississippi girl, in a supermarket basement makes his first court appearance today.

Freddie Green, 18, who worked in the Memphis store as a porter, was on the city court docket for arraignment on charges of murder and murder in the perpetration of rape.

In a full statement before newsmen, Green admitted killing red-haired, freckle-faced Sharon Vaiden when she screamed and fought off his amorous approach.

Detective Chief Charles Young said Sharon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vaiden of near Olive Branch, Miss., was stabbed 32 times with a 4 1/2 inch jack-knife.

The slaying caused such an angry reaction at the Vaidens' hometown of Bethel that their pastor cautioned the congregation at Sunday services against "taking the law into our own hands."

"At times like this," said the Rev. Vernon Robinson, "may we not lose our heads and turn this incident into a war between the races when dozens or even hundreds could easily be killed."

It happened Saturday night when Mrs. Vaiden, in Memphis on a visit, stopped by the supermarket en route home. Sharon walked to her death when she went to a restroom for women employees in the basement.

Green was found by a Negro police officer about eight hours later, asleep in a car parked behind a friend's home.

During interrogation by police and newsmen, Green claimed the girl had willingly been intimate with him "back in November or December."

"I don't feel he's telling the truth," said Young.

The girl's body was found behind some heavy refrigeration machinery, covered with cardboard boxes. All employees had

Fire Destroys Mt. Ida Cafe

MOUNT IDA, Ark. (AP) — An unidentified tourist, believed to be an Oklahoma revenue officer, used his car siren to summon volunteer firemen to fight an early-morning fire that destroyed a recently-opened cafe Saturday.

An electrical storm had disrupted some telephone service.

Sheriff Ralph Godbehre termed the burning of Shorty's Cafe, which opened about one month ago, a "definite case of arson."

Godbehre said several empty kerosene containers were found in the ruins. One container still holding the fuel was also discovered, he said.

Godbehre, who estimated the loss at $30,000, said a case of toilet tissue was apparently taken from a storeroom and placed against a wall and set afire.

The cafe was owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Smith.

Indiana Gets 2nd Chance at Buckeyes

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Like the frying pan and the fire, it's out of Iowa City barely and into Bloomington tonight for Ohio State's singed Buckeyes in the second of two showdown steps toward major college basketball's first all-winning regular season record in four years.

The top-ranked Buckeyes, breathing hard after whipping up a 10-point late-game burst that beat Iowa 62-61 Saturday night, go against the revenge-minded Indiana Hoosiers—a tough to beat bunch at home even when they don't have a grudge to settle.

After Indiana tonight, Ohio State has three games left — at home against Wisconsin and Michigan State, and on the road at Illinois. The three have a combined Big Ten record of 6-20.

Second-ranked St. Bonaventure, shadowing the Buckeyes with a 20-1 record and 11-game streak, also has a pair of games during the week.

The Bonnies, who needed a comeback like Ohio State's to beat DePaul 78-69 last Saturday, seek their 99th and 100th straight home victories when they go against Siena Thursday and Niagara Saturday.

With five brackets still to be filled in the National Invitation Tournament and only one automatic berth of 16 conference places filled in the NCAA, there's a hunk of whittling to be done in these last three weeks of the season.

Ohio U., for the second straight year, has qualified for the NCAA's Mid-East regional as Mid-American Conference champion. Cincinnati, which has won 14 in a row, can clinch at least a tie for the Missouri Valley Conference title by beating North Texas State next Saturday. The Bearcats can wrap it up if runner-up Bradley loses either at Wichita on Thursday or at Tulsa on Saturday.

Kansas State, dueling NCAA-ineligible Kansas for the Big Eight title, can just about nail the loop's tournament berth by beating the Jayhawks Wednesday night. St. Joseph's (Middle-Atlantic), Rhode Island (Yankee), Princeton (Ivy) and, of course, Ohio State (Big Ten) have all but clinched places in the NCAA, but the others will take more unraveling than the next week can provide.

So far, the 12-team NIT has lined up Memphis State, Providence, DePaul, Detroit, Army, Miami (Fla.), and Dayton, St. Bonaventure, St. Johns Houston, and Louisville, all at-large choices, join Ohio U. in the NCAA, which will have 24 teams for its start on March 14.

Uphold Fine on Construction Firm

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—For the second time, the Arkansas Supreme Court today upheld a fine assessed against the Lavender Construction Co., of Fayetteville for failing to obtain a building permit for a school job in Rogers.

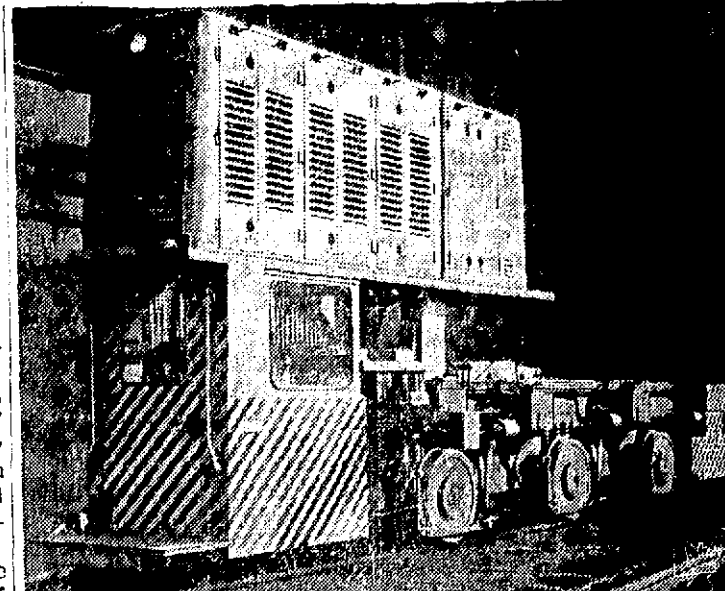

The court said the issues in the current case were the same as in a case decided against the firm four months ago.

The company was fined $50 in municipal court and this was upheld in Benton Circuit Court, from which the appeal came.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE

By Henry Farrell

Chapter XXV
After the last two days of recuperation, Blanche was feeling better, much more alert; the real had begun to unravel itself from the unreal.

The sight of the stain on the carpet had stunned Blanche. The thing that had remained obscured in the dimness at the back of her mind was suddenly thrust forward into the blinding light of complete recall. Angry voices echoed clearly against the inner ear of her memory; and the figure was there again, before her, silhouetted sharply in the doorway. And then there was a second figure, holding something in its hand, raising the thing and bringing it down viciously upon the head of the other. The rest was as it had been before. The first figure fell. The second stepped forward and slammed the door.

Blanche sat staring into the shadows, thoughts of feverish, remembered terror winging through her mind like screaming black devils. "I didn't mean to kill her," Jane had said. Kill . . . Blanche brought her hand up to her mouth against an inadvertent sob of anguish. She knew now who the figure in the doorway was. She knew — that Jane had killed.

Mrs. Stitt had tried to warn Blanche, and she hadn't listened. Tears of remorse burned her eyes and she let her hand fall away. All these years she had gambled blindly. And she had thought herself so wise. Now she saw that her blindness had destroyed two precious lives—that of the person who had served her all these years—Jane—and that of the one who had tried to save her—Edna Stitt. The guilt, then, was hers just as much as Jane's.

So Jane's present mood of contrition was explained; she was trying, in her own pathetic way, to atone. For murder. It was too horrible, too ugly . . . Blanche wanted to cry out against the nightmare she now shared with Jane, but she forced herself to be still. Evidently Jane's crime had not been discovered; she must have managed somehow to conceal Mrs. Stitt's body. Perhaps in this very house. Blanche shuddered as with a sudden chill. The police had told at once. Whatever the consequences, there was no alternative.

Blanche stopped, forced all at once to the realization that she was no

Tech Uses Free Tosses to Lick the Porkers

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—The University of Arkansas dropped two full games behind league-leading Texas Tech in losing to the Red Raiders 87-81 Saturday night in an important Southwest Conference basketball game.

The Porkers behind most of the game and never regaining the lead after the closing minutes of the first half, managed to close the gap twice in the last eight minutes. Arkansas evened things up at 69-69 and again at 71-71.

But two free throws by Mav Percival put Tech ahead 73-71 with 6:19 remaining and the Red Raiders held their lead.

While the Porkers outbounded Tech 38-33 they also outlived the Red Raiders 31 to 15. Arkansas' accuracy from the foul line showed but the Razorbacks had only 24 tries to Tech's 47.

Tech's Del Ray Mounts dumped in 31 points to lead his team's winning action. Harold Hudgens, Tech's 6-9 center netted 24 before fouling out while Claude Rhoden scored 23 for Arkansas and also fouled out.

Arkansas' hopes for throwing the conference Ace into a three-way first place tie with Tech and Texas A&M faded with the defeat. Arkansas now 6-4 in the conference sank to a tie for third with Texas while A&M took complete control of the second spot.

Tech Has the Inside on SW Loop Title

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas Tech is in excellent position to win its first Southwest Conference basketball championship but, mindful of the fact that its only losses were on the road, goes to Waco Tuesday night to play down-trodden but dangerous Baylor with trepidation.

The Red Raiders cling to first place last week when they bounced back from a 74-71 licking from Texas A & M to blast Arkansas down to a third place tie with an 87-81 triumph. Tech rolled on at the head of the field with an 8-2 record, while Texas A&M, which held the pace and beat Rice 65-58, took over undisputed second place with 7-3.

Tech has only four games left but two are on the road—against Baylor Tuesday night and Rice at Houston Feb. 27. Coach Polk Robison sees Baylor as a real menace to his chances. The Gold Bears won their first conference game of the season Saturday night, downing Texas Christian convincingly, 73-60. TCU beat Texas A&M and Texas although it's far down in the standings.

But while Tech might have cause to worry about its road games, Texas A&M is in the same boat, only more so. The Aggies Tuesday night play bitter rival Southern Methodist at Dallas. SMU is out of the race but it still is a fine team, especially playing in the confines of its own coliseum.

Texas, which still has mild hopes of figuring in the championship as the upshot of its 71-65 victory over Southern Methodist last week, meets Rice at Austin Tuesday night and must win or give up everything.

Arkansas, disappointed but not disgraced in its gallant battle with Tech, plays Texas Christian at Fort Worth Wednesday night.

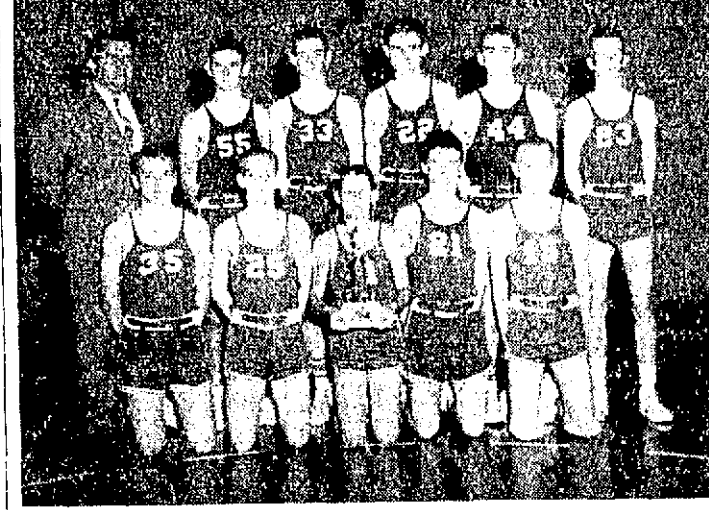

If Tech comes through and the Aggies lose, the Red Raiders will become shoofies for the championship although they still have Texas to play. But Saturday night they host Texas Christian while Texas A&M meets Texas at College Station. Baylor tries Arkansas at Fayetteville and Rice and Southern Methodist tangle at Houston.

Long Putt Gives Victory to Dave Hill

By MURRAY SINCLAIR

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A 27-foot desperation putt good for a birdie on the third hole Sunday gave Dave Hill of Jackson, Mich., victory in the sudden death playoff for top money in the $20,000 Tucson Open golf tournament.

Former U.S. Open champ Tommy Bolt and California rookie Buddy Sullivan quietly headed for the clubhouse as the 23-year-old Hill leaped for joy. It was his first PGA victory.

The putt that wasn't meant to fall earned $2,800 for Hill and trimmed Bolt and Sullivan's shares to $1,670 each.

"I just hit it," said the elated youngster. "I had no idea it would go in. All I was trying to do was get close to the pin for a par."

Hill also had something to jump about a few minutes earlier when his 15-foot putt dropped for an eagle 3 on the par-5, 510-yard 18th hole. This gave him a 5-under-par 65 for the round and a 72-hole total of 268.

Sullivan stood up under pressure by coming out of trees for a birdie on the 18th. Bolt also had 269.

Bolt missed a 10-foot putt for a birdie on the first extra hole by less than an inch. All three took par fours for the 368-yard hole.

Bolt went for victory on the second hole with a 20-foot chip shot from the apron that rimmed the cup and hung on the lip. He had to settle for a par 4 on the 450-yard No. 2 hole. So did Hill and Sullivan. The end came on the next green.

Charles Sifford, perennial National Negro champ, started the final round only a stroke behind Sullivan. He watched seven putts slip within two inches of the cup to give him a 71 and a tie with Art Wall Jr. at 9-under-par 271.

Jay Hibert, co-leader at the before mark, was in a group of five with 272. The others were Dave Marr, Mason Rudolph, Mar-

THE FERTILE MALLARD—Biddie, a wild mallard, stands on just part of her laurels in Memphis, Tenn. She laid 81 eggs in 81 days for her 11-year-old master, Don High. Since most ducks lay at most 15 eggs and then quit, Biddie is quite a feathered curiosity among poultrymen, especially when they discover that she eats dog food regularly.

He's Somebody is another invader from the Fair Grounds, where he performed consistently. Atomic Jet has been working well here after a winter layoff.

The remainder of today's card is made up of six sprints and a mile and 70-yard nightcap.

Eight Again ran the 5 1/2 furlongs of the Inaugural in 1:07.2 and paid $19.40. Jockey Larry Larkin rode him to victory 3 1/2 lengths ahead of August Mueckler Jr.'s Deemster. E.E. Wilson's Leadstealer was third.

Larkin had two victories, the other coming on Warbow in the Mr. Arkie, Mrs. A. M. Creech's second race.

Hawks Can Back Into League Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks can back into the Western Division championship of the National Basketball Association tonight.

The Los Angeles Lakers, only team with a chance of tying the Hawks, meet the Syracuse Nationals in Morgantown, W. Va. A Nat victory and the Hawks are in.

The Hawks could have gotten home clear Sunday, but they dropped a 123-100 decision to the New York Knickerbockers, who hold down last place in the Eastern Division. St. Louis doesn't play again until Tuesday night, when they entertain Cincinnati.

In other action Sunday, the Boston Celtics downed the Syracuse Nationals 116-106, and the Cincinnati Royals turned back the Los Angeles Lakers 112-106.

The Boston-Syracuse game, nationally televised, was halted twice in the second half by ruckus. Boston Coach Red Auerbach protested long and loud at a call by referee Pete D'Ambrasia at one point. A few minutes later, the crowd showered the court with debris by way of protesting a call in favor of the Celtics. Syracuse Coach Alex Hannum was thrown out at the end of the melee.
